

Two Weeks, Two Wins

We're on a roll. After the critical work you've done in standing up to unfair trade, we've had a win on one important trade case and an initial victory on another. Thank you for your efforts. We are making a real difference!

Coated Paper

Starting in the summer, Rapid Response delivered a key paper sector report to Congressional offices, urged Senators and Representatives to sign a letter to the President dealing with unfair trade with China, published over 40 letters to the editor, and pushed key Senators and Representatives to testify in front of the International Trade Commission. All of this activity was in support of our members in the paper sector – and specifically to support those members impacted by the onslaught of Chinese coated paper. Last Friday we heard the great news; our efforts paid off and there will be relief for our members in the coated paper sector!

Clean Energy Technology 301 Trade Case

Recently, Rapid Response activists pushed Senators, Representatives and even candidates for Congress to send letters to the President in support of a trade case dealing with clean energy technology and China. Our first goal was to make sure that the Administration agreed to launch an investigation into this case. After the quick work of activists across the country, the Administration agreed to move forward on the case. We still have a long way to go in winning this case, but this initial action was great news!

The following is a listing of the Senators and Representatives who sent letters or other messages of support to the President on the clean energy technology trade case:
